

RETURNS.

As the Herald desires to present the fullest possible election news on Thursday morning, it hopes that its friends throughout the county will forward returns to the office to-night—both by telegraph and letter.

Election To-day.

While this article is being read, the polling will already be going on. Now the minds of most voters have been firmly made up; their candidates have been selected; their votes decided. Little of the political has entered the canvass; in most cases the question has been asked, "Who is the best man?" not "Who is the best Republican?" or "Who is the best Democrat?" Staunch Republicans, in the case of the Supreme Judge, will vote for McKee, staunch Democrats for Dwinelle, and staunch members of both parties for McKinstry. Looking at the canvass impartially, the chances for the election of Dwinelle seem the best; thus it seems; although to the writer either of the other candidates is preferable.

For District Judge, the two candidates, Andrew Glassell and Y. Sepulveda, are both popular, and would both ably fill the office for which they aspire. They are men of exemplary habits, pure integrity, and fine legal ability; owing to events which the canvass has developed, the chances of success seem to favor Sepulveda. He will carry largely the Spanish vote, and will not be weak among the Americans.

For County Judge, there are three aspirants: A. J. King, A. A. Wilson, and H. K. S. O'Melveny. Who will succeed is beyond the power of man to predict. Each is surrounded by a warm coterie of friends, who are working hard for success. Many prophecy the success of Judge King; others say that as both he and Mr. O'Melveny are Democrats, party favor will carry in Mr. Wilson.

Of the seven candidates for Justice of the Peace but two can win; five must suffer defeat. Consequently the odds are heavily against each candidate. However this may be, it seems more than probable that Mr. Ayers, of the Express, will be one of the favored. Mr. Conry, another old journalist, is in the field, and newspaper sympathies are all in his favor.

The Yellow Fever and the Cholera.

The dispatches still contain terrible accounts of the ravages of the yellow fever in the States south of Illinois, bordering on the Mississippi. From Memphis, people are fleeing, and every departing train is filled with those hastening from death. Their case has been such as to commend them to the sympathy of all sections of the country, and what relief money can give has been offered. In the east, cholera also has been raging, and the coming winter will have stayed its progress. It should be a cause of gratitude to the people of Los Angeles, and Southern California, that they are spared this destruction; that they live in a region unscathed by these pests. They enjoy a sunny climate, in which for three hundred and fifty days out of the year, they may be out of doors with comfort, and yet are free from malaria of any kind. This inducement alone should bring thousands of emigrants to make homes in their midst.

The Cornell University.

The Northern Christian Advocate, in saying of the Cornell University, "it begins its sixtieth year with 209 Freshmen—raw recruits for Satan!" presents but another example of a newspaper asserting as a fact that which it wishes might occur. Some newspapers like some men consider themselves invulnerable, set themselves up for little divinities, incapable of erring, and making their wish father of a result, damn all opponents. The truth is Cornell University and perhaps all other non-sectarian colleges are just as mortal as the sectarian college. They may not turn out so many Methodist ministers, Baptist ministers, or ministers of any other denomination, but they do turn out good men and in most cases infinitely better students.

Telegraph Arrangements.

Last evening a very satisfactory and courteous letter was received at this office from the General Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Co. The following passage from it is quoted, to show the readers of the Herald what this paper is doing to supply them with news:

"I should like you to report to me any time when your dispatches are received in a careless or unsatisfactory manner. We employ an experienced reporter, and there is no good reason why the news should not be well made up, and with the number of words you receive, cover the entire ground every day of all important news that reaches this city from the East, or the different parts of this coast."

Yours truly,
JAS. GAMBLE, Gen. Supt.

Prentice Mulford writing to the Bulletin from Europe says: "The Court Circular pronounces Joaquin Miller's Modoc essay to be 'the book of the season.'" A critic in the Athenaeum says it is the "confession of a second-hand." Mr. Miller publishes the critic as a "cur, a liar and a coward." The critic will not fight. He demands more provocation.

The Governor has pardoned William Poole, sentenced to ten years from Solano county, for grand larceny.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 14.—The Boston Grange, composed of grain and commission merchants, having been ordered to disband, by the Grand Master of the National Grange, as it was not a farmers' grange, threatened to carry the matter before the National Grange. The Boston grange retains its book and rituals, the members using the pass words and grips of the order. As it is composed of prominent business men, a warm contest is promised.

Geo. Rook, pugilist, fatally stabbed Richard Bradshaw in New York this morning.

Bishop Cummings, of Kentucky, has written a letter in vindication of his conduct, and that of the Dean of Canterbury, in the matter of their communion in the Presbyterian churches. He says: "I deny, most emphatically, that the Dean of Canterbury, or myself, have violated any ecclesiastical order of the Church of England, or of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country, or have been guilty of open hostility to the discipline of the Church. There is nothing in the ecclesiastical order or discipline of the Church of England, or of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country, forbidding such acts of inter-communion among Christian people who are one in Faith and Love, and one in Christ, their great head. As far as I know, liberal Episcopalians, of New York, rejoice in the action of the Dean of Canterbury, and thank God for it."

The suspension of Wm. Hoge & Co., bankers, and Wm. Whiteman & Co., brokers, is announced.

There was a heavy pressure to sell stocks to-day and force prices down, and in some cases prices were below the quotation at the recent panic.

Three thousand shares of Lake Shore have just been sold out under the rule for the benefit of Boyd, Benson & Co. The firm has not failed, but is selling stock to get clear of a general complication.

The suspension of Gillespie, Trowbridge & Co., tea dealers, is announced.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 14.—The election is passing off quietly, a light vote being polled. Returns from seventeen wards, up to 10 o'clock, give Gordon, Republican, for Supreme Judge, 464 Republican majority. Mackey, State Treasurer, 930 majority.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Returns show that the Republican ticket will have about the usual majority. It is thought there was a great falling off from the vote of last year.

TENNESSEE.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 14.—No cases of fever this morning. There was another light frost, and it is now hoped the scourge will be abated. The Masonic Relief Board report 56 cases on hand, the Old Fellows about 40, Knights of Pythias 9 or 10, Firemen's 7. Contribution receipts are heavier to-day than any day during the prevalence of the epidemic. Fifty of those recently made orphans have been sent to the Church Home, near Buntin Station, Shelby county, in charge of the Sisters of Mercy, but that institution reports its inability to supply them with subsistence.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 14.—The dwelling and stables of Davidson Taggart, of Goffstown, were burned last night; 17 blooded horses were also consumed, including Ned Hastings, an Arabian stallion, valued at $12,000. Abdallah himself was the only horse saved.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Conway, who shot Senator Pomeroy last Saturday, was arraigned to-day and waived an examination, giving bail on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—The vote of the city up to one o'clock, indicates 15 to 20 per cent. falling off from the usual vote.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Patrick Lawless was stabbed and killed last night in the southern part of the city, by James Walsh, who broke into the house and attacked the owner.

FOREIGN NEWS.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Two hundred and ninety-four thousand pounds of bullion were shipped to New York to-day, £62,000 was drawn from the bank of England to-day, nearly all for America. The Bank of England has raised the rate of discount to six per cent.

A dispatch from Cartagena yesterday says the insurgent vessels are again leaving the harbor, and another naval engagement is expected. Command of the insurgent fleet has been given to the Captain of the Tetuan.

MADRID, Oct. 14.—A dispatch from Hapahua, a few miles from Cartagena, says a heavy cannonade is heard there, and it is expected a naval engagement is in progress. It is reported provisions in Cartagena will only last three days.

SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Squirrels the Cause of the Meeting.—A Light Place.—Mistaken Identity and Lucky Identification.—Large Masonic Attendance.—Witnesses in Irons.—Outrageous Action of the U. S. Marshal.

Ernest Diedrich killed himself at the Scandinavian House last night, by choking himself to death with a strap. Nothing is known of his antecedents. A meeting of farmers was held here to-day, to consider measures for procuring legislative aid in abating the squirrel pest. Interesting reports were submitted upon the ravages of these animals, and drafts of several bills were submitted to the conference.

Judge Hoffman fined Wright, the second mate of the ship St. Charles, only $20 for assaulting and beating two seamen.

A man was arrested at San Jose as Harris, mate of the Sumrise, and was brought to this city; but he proves to be George Greenwood, the absconding night nurse of the county hospital, accused of stealing $250 from that institution.

About 500 members attended the meeting of the Masonic Grand Lodge to-day.

It is feared that only a small vote will be polled at the judicial election to-morrow, in this city.

A. D. Bell, formerly of the Bulletin, has joined the Post.

The sailors of the ship Sunrise, who have been detained in the county jail as witnesses, were brought by a deputy United States Marshal before Justice Townsend to-day, ironed, as if they had been the men accused of the crime, instead of the men seeking justice. The act of Wm. G. Morris in ordering the proceeding, is denounced as an outrage on the men.

Second Dispatch.—10 P. M.

The police have arrested four more small boys for having committed fifteen burglaries at the Mission and in the western part of the city. They obtained a large amount of jewelry, plate, etc., in their raids. Each one is a graduate of the Industrial School. The well known jeweler, John Revok, was arrested to-night, charged with having bought the jewelry from the boys, knowing it to have been stolen.

M., a freight train behind it, from San Francisco, ran into it, and the locomotive and cars were derailed. The engineer jumped from the engine and was badly bruised and may be hurt internally.

REDDING.

Arrest of a Supposed Murderer.—Shipment of Salmon Eggs.

REDDING, CAL., Oct. 14.—A man named Crooks, who had been living with the McCloud River Indians, has been missing for several days. Yesterday his hat and coat were found near the river, under circumstances that give rise to suspicion of foul play. An Indian named Pete is arrested charged with having killed him, and thrown the body into the river.

Butler and Jaynes agents for U. S. Fishery Commission, will ship half a million of salmon eggs to New Jersey in the morning.

SANTA CLARA.

Meeting of the State Grange Convention.

The convention is presided over by J. W. A. Wright, who announced all matters of business to come before the convention, viz: Appointing a Committee on Emigration; also, that Congress be petitioned to grant to the State the control of its waters for irrigation. He reported, likewise, the condition of each Grange in the State. Officers and executive committees for the ensuing year were elected. Committees were appointed on auditing, on publication of minutes, and to prepare a constitution and by-laws for State and subordinate Granges. Gov. Booth will deliver an address before the Grange on Friday evening. Prof. Carr will also address them. The time is not fixed, but the Convention will continue during the week.

COLUSA.

McKinstry the Popular Candidate.

COLUSA, Oct. 14.—The Independents held a meeting last night, in the interest of Judge McKinstry. Col. F. L. Hatch, the County Judge and others addressed the taxpayers, greatly to the surprise of the entire community, as he had denounced the movement, only a few weeks ago, as a detriment and an evil to the majority of the good thinking minds of the nation.

SAN BUENAVENTURA.

They are both doing well. The horses and carriage were slightly injured.

MOONLIGHT IN LOS ANGELES.

Slow the moon, with glances tender,
Rises in the east;
Like an empress in her splendor,
To some royal feast;
Like some queen of fabled story,
Rising up in trembling glory,
Like a soul released.

Now the radiant moonlight streaming,
Bathes each lofty hill;
And in morn'rous rapture dreaming,
Sleeps each stream and rill;
Now the trembling dewdrops quiver,
And the zephyrs sigh and shiver,
Shiver, and are still.

Now o'er bower and fruit is lying,
Silence like the tomb;
And each flower, in stillness lying,
Sheds its sweet perfume;
Shadowy shapes come swift advancing,
And bright fairy forms are glancing
Through the trembling gloom.

O'er soft scenes thy bright smiles hover,
Silvering hill and glade;
Ling'ring, languid, where the lover,
And the gentle maid,
'Neath thy rays of dazzling splendor,
Whisper secrets, low and tender,
In the olive shade.

Myriad rays like diamonds sparkling,
Shed a radiance round;
Where the omens of the darkening,
In the hush profound;
Soft and low a spell is creeping
Over weary nature, sleeping,
In sweet slumber drowned.

Now the hush of midnight stilly,
Deep and deeper grows;
And the drooping, listless lily,
Sleeps beside the rose;
Now the feathery pampa, streaming,
In the trembling moonlight gleaming,
White and ghostly glows.

Now the silvery palm is waving,
Like some magic wand;
Shaken by bright ripples laving
Ocean's gleaming strand;
Comes the west wind, softly sighing,
Like some message gently ringing,
From the spirit land.

Now the pallid rays are streaming
Over the grave-yard lone;
Like a ghostly phantom gleaming,
Each sepulchral stone;
Now the air grows crisp and crisp,
And the morn'ring night-whisperer,
Whisper and are gone.

Now the sounds of mirth and riot,
Faintly dying, cease;
And the restless hearts disquiet,
Find from care release;
Resting still from weary fretting,
Every care and pain forgetting,
In sweet dreams of peace.

The Mennonites.

Several hundred Mennonites, a religious sect made up chiefly of emigrants from Holland, Denmark and Germany, have secured a large section of land in Dakota Territory, where they propose to form a colony. The arrival of this little band of the followers of Menno is alluded to by some of our contemporaries as the first of the sect in the United States. This is an error, as will be seen by reference to the history of the denomination. The first appearance of the Mennonites on this continent was at Germantown, Penn., in 1833, and in 1708 they had a school and meeting-house at that place. Two years later a number of families had settled in Pequana valley, now of Lancaster county of the same State. According to information furnished by their own journals, there were in America in 1850 about 125,000 Mennonites. This number was then something over half of those who professed the faith in the world.

The Mennonites are a denomination of the Baptists, and were first organized in Holland, over two centuries ago, by Menno Simons, though the theory that he was the original founder of the faith is doubted by many, who claim that the origin of the Dutch Baptists can be traced to the Waldenses, and that Menno only organized the concealed fragments of congregations into the denomination which now bears a part of his name. Like almost all other religious sects, the Mennonites have suffered much from dissensions within and from persecution by the governments under which they lived. Those who have made their home in the United States have been free from the last-named trouble, and recent reconciliations on many schisms which formed bones of contention in times past, have tended to unite the sect. In doctrine and usages the Mennonites agree in general with other Baptist churches, but they are opposed to capital punishment, on the ground that it is inconsistent with the spirit of Christianity. They baptize by sprinkling, and observe the ordinance of foot-washing. They are non-combatants, and opposed to war, and every species of revenge, and are opposed to all kinds of oath-taking. They will not permit divorce, except for adultery, and forbid the marriage of their members to any except those who have been united to the Church.

As a religious sect, there is nothing objectionable about the Mennonites; they are good citizens, and quiet, industrious people. The colony about to be established in Dakota will be a valuable acquisition to that Territory.—[Chronicle.]

A Murderer Endorsed.

The Evening Torchlight speaking of Curtin's acquittal says:

Curtin, who shot and killed a young man named Johnson some months ago, for seducing his daughter, was last night acquitted by a jury of his countrymen. As usual, the apparent ground of acquittal was the "temporary insanity" of Curtin. That seduction justified murder of course was not claimed, but the fit of rage, frenzy, madness to which Curtin was wrought, over the so-called "ruin" of his daughter, was adjudged as equivalent to insanity, and Curtin was acquitted. And upon the jury's announcing the verdict it is said the applause of the rabble was long and loud, and Curtin was immediately surrounded by his friends and the usual pump-handle congratulations were gone through with. Is it possible that law and justice are thus caricatured in this land of law and order? Can it be that a man, in a fit of madness, can shoot down his fellow man in his path, like a dog, for an act acknowledged not justified by murder, and then be acquitted because such an act rendered him for the time frenzied? What is law? What is justice? What is the use of law, if it can be thus prostituted and reduced to a mockery? When we see such things going on in this boasted land where justice is falsely represented as blindfolded when hearing aloft the balance of Justice, we could wish that we were omnipotent for about two hours, that we might knock this corrupt world into smithereens! O Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!
